Sentinel Transformation & Readiness Training Information Sheet

Purpose

The Sentinel Transformation & Readiness Training (START) is a five-day transition course designed to equip our newest active duty enlisted personnel with essential knowledge to thrive personally and professionally as members of the total workforce. The curriculum is primarily focused on Core Values Reinforcement, Personal Resilience, and Conflict Intervention and Resolution Skills. The START environment at Training Center Yorktown (TCY) will be intentionally less stressful than that of Training Center Cape May (TCCM), which enables higher fidelity practice and promotes skills and knowledge retention vital to their future success. Currently, only active-duty graduates of the eight-week recruit training program will attend START. Attendance for all others (i.e. reservists, CSPI, DEPOT) will be assessed at a later date.

The course will be held immediately following the successful completion of recruit training. Sentinels will graduate recruit training on Friday; those attending START will receive liberty until Saturday evening. On Sunday morning, following breakfast, prospective START students will board contracted buses that will transport them to TCY. The students will arrive prior to dinner with enough time to settle in and receive a 101 briefing of the rules, regulations, and expectations for their time onboard. The formal curriculum will begin Monday morning.

After completing START, personnel will be transported via bus to Richmond International Airport to continue with their Permanent Change of Station (PCS), Hometown Recruiting or leave.

Assessment Criteria and Graduation Requirements

- Students will receive instruction on 14 separate modules during their week of training.
- START is primarily classroom-based, heavily emphasizing Coast Guard culture, readiness, teamwork and experiential learning activities.

A Day in the Life

An average classroom day for a Sentinel will start at 0800 and end at 1700. A Sentinel can expect eight hours of classroom instruction per day with a 50-minute instruction/10-minute break routine and a one-hour lunch break. Participants will be closely monitored and guided by staff, but not to the extent of Recruit Training. Instructors will facilitate classroom interactions and act as mentors to students in a more academic learning environment. Sentinels will not receive off-base liberty during START, however they will have access to the many services onboard TCY such as the gym and theater.
